

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|  SANJAVAN GHODASARA  Hoboken, NJ   sanjavan7@gmail.com   +1 (551) 344-8397   LinkedIn   Portfolio                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                |
| EDUCATION                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                |
|  Stevens Institute of Technology Master of Science in Machine Learning Silver Oak College of Engineering Bachelor of Technology in Information Technology                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |  Hoboken, NJ Expected May 2027 Gujarat, India May 2025  |
| RESEARCH & PUBLICATIONS                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |                                                                                                                |
|  Graduate Research Assistant - Educational Artificial Intelligence Prof. Tiffany Li  <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>First-author publication: "Can Learners Navigate Imperfect Generative Pedagogical Chatbots? An Analysis of Chatbot Errors on Learning." ACM @ 2026</li> <li>Analyzed 500+ student-chatbot interactions across 3 universities designing comprehensive qualitative taxonomy achieving high inter-rater reliability; implemented unsupervised machine learning framework identifying 5 distinct behavioral profiles from 576 learning sessions</li> <li>Developed Latent Profile Analysis pipeline using Gaussian Mixture Models with scikit-learn for probabilistic clustering; applied rigorous statistical validation (ANOVA, Bayesian Information Criterion, Akaike Information Criterion) replacing arbitrary classification thresholds</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |  Sep 2025 - Present Stevens Institute of Technology                           |
| PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |                                                                                                                |
|  Data Scientist - Artificial Intelligence/Machine Learning Network Automation Jio Platforms Limited (450M+ subscribers)  <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Architected end-to-end geospatial machine learning system leveraging transfer learning with VGG19 convolutional neural network for nationwide 5G/6G site planning, achieving 93% land classification accuracy while processing 500,000+ satellite tiles daily across 23 states serving 100M+ users</li> <li>Deployed production inference pipeline on Google Cloud Platform using Docker containerization and Kubernetes orchestration (1.6s latency); designed custom QGIS plugin with integrated model validation interface reducing manual geographic information system work by 70% (12,000+ engineering hours saved annually)</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |  Jan 2025 - May 2025 Navi Mumbai, India                                       |
|  Artificial Intelligence/Machine Learning Team Lead IBM India Software Lab  <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Led 6-person engineering team developing BERT and GPT-based healthcare conversational agent deployed on IBM Cloud serving 50,000+ daily medical queries across 15 hospitals with 92% user satisfaction rating and sub-2-second response times</li> <li>Architected full-stack platform integrating real-time natural language understanding for medical query processing; intelligent system successfully integrated into IBM Watson Health commercial product suite generating $2M+ annual recurring revenue</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |  May 2024 - Sep 2024 Ahmedabad, India                                         |
|  Data Analyst - Government Infrastructure Analytics IBM India Pvt Ltd  <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Engineered National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) road safety dashboards and predictive analytics models analyzing 100,000+ traffic incidents across 50+ highways, improving stakeholder decision-making accuracy by 35% and informing $250M+ infrastructure investments</li> <li>Executed end-to-end data pipeline using Python, Tableau, SQL, and IBM Watson Studio extracting actionable insights from complex real-world transportation datasets</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |  July 2024 - Sep 2024 Ahmedabad, India                                        |
|  Junior Software Developer LTIMindtree  <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Architected scalable microservices architecture using FastAPI framework supporting 10,000+ daily API requests; shipped cross-platform Flutter mobile applications achieving 4.5+ star ratings with 50,000+ downloads and 99.9% crash-free user sessions</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |  Aug 2022 - Feb 2023 Mumbai, India                                            |
| KEY PROJECTS                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                                                                                                                |
|  RentSense - Intelligent Housing Finder NexHacks 2026   PropTech platform  <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Intelligent neighborhood recommendation system scoring 197 NYC neighborhoods across 8 lifestyle dimensions (public safety, commute convenience, amenities access) using conversational natural language interface with real-time interactive Leaflet.js choropleth visualization; architected as aggregator layer for Zillow and StreetEasy integration delivering personalized recommendations</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 2026                                                                                                           |
|  Synovia - Surgical Outcome Predictor 1st Place HackPrinceton (120+ teams, 800+ participants)   Clinical pilots  <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Surgical outcome prediction system using physics-based finite element analysis and Google Gemini multimodal reasoning delivering real-time neurological deficit predictions (motor, language, cognitive) in under 10 seconds vs 6+ hours traditional pre-operative mapping; addresses 36% complication rate affecting 180,000+ annual brain surgeries with potential $520M cost reduction; conducting IRB-approved clinical validation at 2 teaching hospitals</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 2025                                                                                                           |
|  Alama - One-Touch Onboarding DevHouse SF   Requested by Omi  <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Conversational onboarding platform leveraging Browser Use autonomous agents with Chrome DevTools Protocol and Touch ID biometric authentication, replacing 47 OAuth permission screens with 30-second setup flow and increasing completion rate from 10% to 80%+; technology requested by Based Hardware for production deployment in Omi companion wearable serving thousands of users</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 2025                                                                                                           |
|  UltraBench - Memory Benchmarking DevHouse SF Winner   Requested by Supermemory  <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Open-source benchmarking infrastructure for retrieval-augmented generation memory providers featuring command-line interface dashboard with automated testing across 4 standardized benchmarks (LoCoMo, RAG, LongMemEval, Novel) testing 500+ scenarios; officially adopted by Supermemory as evaluation standard, cited by Pinecone and Weaviate technical documentation, achieving 5,000+ weekly downloads</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 2025                                                                                                           |
|  CliniJoy - Healthcare Operations Rutgers Health   Requested by Sevaro  <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Provider scheduling optimization platform using dual constraint programming models (Google OR-Tools CP-SAT and Mixed Integer Linear Programming) integrated with CDC healthcare demand forecasting (Holt-Winters time series analysis, 3.8% mean absolute percentage error), achieving 98.6% shift coverage vs 75-85% industry baseline while reducing scheduling time 99.6% (40+ hours to under 5 minutes) and delivering $630,000+ annual cost savings with 1,287% return on investment</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | 2025                                                                                                           |
| HONORS & LEADERSHIP                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                |
|  <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Hackathon victories: 1st place HackPrinceton Healthcare Track (600+ participants), DevHouse SF Overall (Founder round, 10 selected from 500+ builders), NexHacks (VC speed-dating selected, 1,500+ participants), Rutgers Health Hackathon; runners-up, Easycode Harvard x MIT, Columbia representing top 5% of 600-1,200 participant fields</li> <li>Publishing researcher: First-author ACM Learning @ Scale 2026 conference paper   IEEE Natural Language Processing Research Committee Lead   TEDx SOCET Conference Director managing 2,100+ attendees with $50,000 budget   Captain Gujarat State Football Team (2021 Cup of India national tournament)</li> <li>Technology acquisitions &amp; adoptions: Alama onboarding platform requested by Based Hardware (Omi wearable)   UltraBench benchmarking standard adopted by Supermemory   Lead founding team @ Luna - intelligent social venue discovery platform   Leading textile similarity search system for Surat &amp; Ahmedabad textile manufacturers (India's largest textile hub) using Computer Vision to reduce 92M tons of annual fabric waste</li> </ul>  |                                                                                                                |
| TECHNICAL SKILLS                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                |
|  Languages: Python, TypeScript, C++, Java, SQL, JavaScript Machine Learning &amp; AI: PyTorch, TensorFlow, Hugging Face Transformers, BERT, GPT, CLIP, Gemini, scikit-learn Specializations: Physics-informed ML, Natural Language Processing, Computer Vision, Geospatial Intelligence, Mathematical Optim (CP-SAT, MILP) Frameworks &amp; Tools: React, FastAPI, Django, Flutter, Node.js, Docker, Kubernetes, Leaflet.js Cloud &amp; Databases: Google Cloud Platform, AWS, Vector Databases (FAISS, pgvector), PostgreSQL, MongoDB, Redis                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                |